Whose taming ways have brought us here?
Not a single one of us was built tongue-tied, with too much patience
Let not the focused stand as fast as the ones Who by their own misfortunes drop like bombs from heavy eyelids

Give me a purpose and I'll blow it to hell
Give me a reason why I shouldn't care
Give me loose ends, I'll tie them into the ground (Ty)
I could have been there, I should have been there

But that's no reason to mark you under a stone
That's no reason for you to die alone
That's no reason I'm standing here at all

That same old laugh you can't hold back
That same dark glimmer in your eye
Let me come home just once more, find you sitting on my porch
Where we had spent so little time before

Give me a purpose, watch me blow it to hell
Give me one reason why I shouldn't care And give me loose ends, I'll pull him up from the ground (Ty)
Cause I should have been there, I could have been there

But that's no reason to mark you under a stone
That's no reason for you to die alone
That's no reason I'm standing here at all
I'm standing here at all

Ty

That same old laugh you can't hold back
That same dark glimmer in your eye
