I'm sick and tired of the voices in my head always wishing always wishing You were dead
I'll stick around and paint the night red right now
We have only just begun but already you want to take me away from here and
From there
Pushing me around like you really don't care
We have only just begun so where is the fun
If not here if not there how could you say that you don't care
I'm sick and tired of the things that I have seen, who's to tell me who's To tell me what's obscene
I'll stick around and paint the night red right now
We have only just begun but already you want to take me away from here and
From there
Pushing me around like you really don't care
We have only just begun so where is the fun
care
I got time I got time I'm too tired to get away, I'm too tired so I guess I'll stay I'm too tired to start a fight, I'm too tired I've been up all night
I know it's wrong, yeah I know it's wrong
We'll stick around and paint the night red right now
We have only just begun but already you want to take me away from here and
From there
Pushing me around like you really don't care
We have only just begun so where is the fun
If not here if not there how could you say that you don't care
I got time I got time
