You and we should both take a step aside
For a while, it was great but then it all started
And there you go
Tell her that she's not supposed to know
That's all
Tell her that the only reason everything's not lost,
Is because it's better than before

You and I did not know how to be alone
Wondering why and saying no
Everyone who knows
And there you go
Tell her that she's not supposed to know
That's all
Tell her that the only reason everything's not lost,
Is because it's better than before

No I won't let it slip away
No I won't let it slide today

There you go
Tell her that she's not supposed to know
That's all
Tell her that the only reason everything's not lost,
Is because it's better than before

Better than before
Better than before
Better than before
