Late August Moon

Did you reach the point where the heartaches come yet?

Did you look my way, can you feel me vibe you?
Dreams die this way, smothered by lust
Boys are broken in half for less

Late august moon, theyâ€™ll be coming soon
Did the angels bring you here tonight?
Late august moon, the enterprise is doomed
The waves have smashed me on your rocks

This townâ€™s not small and your mindâ€™s eye knows that
And the odds were slim and fated by
The tides of June and all those jealous gods
If one of them donâ€™t love you, itâ€™s a shame

Late august moon, theyâ€™ll be coming soon
Did the angels bring you here tonight?
Late august moon, the enterprise is doomed
The waves have smashed me on your rocks

Set against a pitch black sky
Set against the question why Thereâ€™s no answer in your eyes, only a quick look away
But someday Iâ€™ll find you underneath aâ€¦

Late august moon, Iâ€™ll be coming soon
Fate could never keep you away from me
Late august moon, your other plans are doomed
Did you really think that you were free?
