I can barely keep in what I've kept for so long,
In my stomach but it's time, you were too nice.
Well two of my eyes cannot blink any-more,
For I messed up you're calling, you sent you to bed.
And I'll wake you when it's over.
I will wake you when it's over again.

Tick tock as the clocks when I am awake,
Put your hands in your lotion to cover my face.
Do you think you could end up exactly the same?
Never leaving the circle in which I was placed.
And I'll wake you when it's over.
I will wake you when it's over again.

Say oo. To get it too. Oo. To get into.

Well it's feeling again when you're telephone calls.
Every person you miss while you're sitting alone.
Could you drill a hole into the side of my skull?
Enough to crawl into and sleep for a while.
And wake me when it's over?
Can you wake me when it's over, please?

Say oo. To get it soon. Aaaoo. Please connect.
