

O.A.R. (Of A Revolution) "Living in the End"

Visit "Living in the End" on MotoLyrics.com easy Operator on the side of the road a million dollar man in a lower class home Chopping trees for needs of a spritual kind Forever getting lower while he tried to be high he was a early morning eagle eyeing food from far he barely getting over, forget getting by but now its all the same, for Billy King Kane if he had to do it over he would do it the same

Living in the End, He was Living in the End
Polly Ann a beauty wasn't pretty at all She concentrated fully on the shine of his star She's pinching pennies just to pinch 'em, She never let go
And he always dominated everything that she owned
She was a queen with means, and nothing to wear
And daddy gave her everything she ever gon' need But now it's all the same for Polly D'Vane She had to do it over she'd do it all the same, She was Living in the End, Yeah
Living in the End

Are you alright darling, alright now
You'll never be, never be the same
Are you alright darling, alright now
Dont you ever wanna see, ever wanna see some shame

Didn't see it coming as they turn off his light the easy operator laid to rest in the night
He had to, take the hit, it's always the same
And that's the way she see's it killing Billy King Kane That's the way she see it killing Billy King Kane

Are you alright darling, alright now
you'll never be, never be the same
Are you alright darling, alright now
Dont you ever wanna see, ever wanna see some shame

Visit O.A.R. \(Of A Revolution\) page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

