I. enemy:

and now there's the time where you learn to count one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten

you made myself my own enemy
you made myself my own enemy

and you learn to count
one-two-three, one-two-three-four
and you learn to count
and you learn to count
and you learn to count
one-two, one-two-three-four

you made myself my own enemy
you made myself my own enemy

and you learn to count
and you learn to count
and you learn to count
one-two, one-two-three-four

you made myself my own enemy
you made myself my own enemy

II. outer space: (instrumental)

III. the sea is the outer space:
My fingers have become a hoof and I don't know how to breathe My fingers have become a hoof and I don't think I can feel anymore.
feel anymore.

feel anymore.

You Know, weâ€™™ ve been living in an island and the sea is the outer space.
You know, weâ€™™ ve been treating us like cowards
and the sea is the outer space.
