You know what your problem is, your problem is, your problem is, whoa

You know what your problem is you think you don't have a problem
It's really bothering me cause you don't call when you say you will Yet I'm here still, I don't know why you just make me cry
You know what your problem is you think you don't have a problem
You walk around like you own the place, get out of my face Come on, get it together cause you're not worth the chase

Baby you're a dime a dozen, yeah I should have seen it coming
Should have run and hid when I had the chance, But then you caught me in some kind of trance
And now I'm letting you know I'm leaving You're acting shady and your words were deceiving
And I hope eventually that you'll learn to miss me Cause last night was the last time that you'll ever kiss me

You know what your problem is you think you don't have a problem
It's really bothering me cause you don't call when you
say you will
Yet I'm here still, I don't know why you just make me cry
You know what your problem is you think you don't have a problem
You walk around like you own the place, get out of my
face
Come on, get it together cause you're not worth the
chase

I ain't sorry if I broke your heart Cause baby you had mine broken from the very start I should have listen when my friends told me you had no class

If you were standing right in front of me I'd kick your ass Believe me baby what I felt was real I gave you everything but you just couldn't deal
The clock was ticking and baby now it's stopped I drop it like it's hot and you've been dropped cause you're not, what?

You know what your problem is, your problem is, your problem is Believe me baby, just make me cry,
Believe me baby, just make me cry,
Believe me baby, just make me cry

Pushed me to the edge so I'm pushing back Spotlight shines on me while you fade to black You're not in the game, you're in denial You're all kinds of lame, no class no style Sick and tired of your ish and your foolish pride Want me in your wish - baby step aside

You know what your problem is you think you don't have a problem
It's really bothering me cause you don't call when you
say you will
Yet I'm here still, I don't know why you just make me cry
You know what your problem is you think you don't have a problem
You walk around like you own the place, get out of my
face
Come on, get it together cause you're not worth the chase
