"Your Heartbreak"

No matter how much You love
We're always turning away, searching for something else
His heart it breaks for us
No matter how far we've gone, He's there with open arms

And God, You will love us always You're waiting for us to feel Your embrace
But I, I forget that You're there
I chase after things that just fade away
And oh, I hear Your heart break

Turning my face from You
To the things of this world, believing that You're not enough
Even if I follow the rules
I forget that I'm Your child, I forget to run to You

Someday will come a time, when my love will be denied
And I'll taste the pain You felt, on the day that Jesus died
When You gave Yourself on the cross, and we respond by getting lost
When the tears from heaven fall, Your blood it cries for us
Oh, I hear Your heart break (3x)
Oh, I feel the heartache, And now I hear You say:

"No matter how much I love
I see you turn away, searching for something else
My heart it breaks for you
For no matter how far you've gone, I'm here with open arms

And I, I will love you always I'm waiting for you to feel my embrace
And you forget that I'm there
You chase after things that just fade away
So if you step in my shoes just once
And feel the pain when you turn away
Would you love the way that I love

And lay your life down, be the story of grace
And oh, how my heart breaks
And oh, don't make my heart break"
