Hello You are coming through to my world now
Hello You are coming through to my world now

You're stuck filled up with emptiness
You are waiting to catch some breath
But I don't need to be upset
Cause I've got visions that I've never seen before

Hello You are coming through to my world now
Hello You are coming through to my world now
(Slightly vogue)

You're stuck needing some time to grow up
You have too many scars to sew up
Everything is beyond my senses
It's all in dimensions no one can figure out

Hello You are coming through to my world now
Hello You are coming through to my world now

Wasting all of your time
Crying all of the time
Throw away your bad feelings
Breaking out of your mind
You gotta try it
You must feel some unprotected high

Hello You are coming through to my world now
Hello You are coming through to my world now
