this place don't belong to me and i can see the distance by the way i heard you're forgetting me and i don't understand more than you think and i , i don't wanna wake at night i don't wanna wake in another goodbye i, i don't wanna see the lights without you and i , i don't wanna kill the rules of my lovebook in my empty room i , i don't wanna live my life without you no answers, simply revenge i still remember all the things you said skyscrapers and city lights moments that i wanna hold on thigh

and i , i don't wanna kill the rules

now everything is clearer, and i should have known that nothing lasts forever, but i was too blind before but when everything is falling, and you'll find yourself alone i know you will be searching for my number on your phone but i will be too far gone...

this place don't belong to me
even if she doesn't dream of me.
