Darkness kisses my life
And I long to see the sunlight
The old fight deep inside my mind
Makes me senseless and cold
The old fight deep inside my mind
Leaves me without a hold

Walking through to the night
Nobody would ever miss me
The moon shines bright - I hear them call
My only friends up high
The moon shines bright - I hear them all
Hope just passes by

Reaching out for the sky
Dreaming how it could have been
And I know I see the angels
And I know they see me
And I know I see the angels
And I know they see me

The stars, they look so pretty
They play the sound of endless love
Whatever they give - I'll take it now
No matter what it is
I want to leave - and they know how
Nothing I will miss

Reaching out for the sky
Dreaming how it could have been
And now I see the angels
And now they see me
And now I see the angels
And now they see me
