Times are getting rougher in my life
Caused by my own liability
Begging her so much "please, forgive!"
Doesn't give the love a possibility

And she tells me that the game is all over
But a last time she wants me and so she says:
"If you hold me, if you squeeze me, if you thrill me
Please there are many things I can't forgive
If you hold me, if you squeeze me, if you thrill me
Please don't forget love is dead in my head."

Days are passing by and nothing's changed
Can't talk any word cause she is fending
Looking at her face so many times
I am feeling there is something pending

Cause her eyes are telling me it's all over
But her heart is crying loud for me and says:
"Can you hold me, can you squeeze me, can you thrill
me
Please there are many things I will forgive
Can you hold me, can you squeeze me, can you thrill
me
Please and forget love is dead in my head."

After million tears my eyes got dry
Peace has taken place the fight has ended
Suddenly she's in front of my door
Showing me again that she is tended

But I tell her that the game is all over
For a last time I want her and so I say:
"If you hold me, if you squeeze me, if you thrill me
Please there is one thing that I can't forget
If you hold me, if you squeeze me, if you thrill me
Please can't forget love was dead in your head."
