Truth was all I ever wanted
Left alone, as you took me for granted
The ties you made to home, the lies you made well known
The prize before your eyes, too good to pass it by Left alone, I'll get by on my own

Do you think that I would believe,
Choosing words so carefully
Living life so separately

There's a love that we thought we had,
Something more than just holding hands
Don't deny that you were wrong, cause now its gone
(x2)

Faith was all I ever wanted
Pretty lies were all you ever landed
It's just a big mistake, a promise I won't break
I swear it's not my fault
They mean nothing at all
I just can't go on, no more second chances

Do you think that I would believe
Choosing words so carefully
Living life so separately

There's a love that we thought we had,
Something more than just holding hands
Don't deny that you were wrong, cause now its gone
(x2)

(instrumental break)

There's a love that we thought we had,
Something more than just holding hands
Don't deny that you were wrong, cause now its gone
(x3)
