Amber light faded; grey
These dusty shelves won't keep themselves; straight

Down with all these built up walls
Burn to ash and make a keep-sake hopeful
We only ever make the most of this life
When death is far closer than home

Keep yourself sound and safe
Until morning light shows
I am in dark places
Only firelight knows
Here lies little meaning
Subtle whispered screaming
Soft.

Secret lies set back inside; smoke
Weary eyes and sleepless nights for us to dote upon losing

Erase it all and let us crawl,
Fighting shallow blue horizons in freefall
Breaking moulds and believing in truths
Casting shadows over sand dunes and you.

Keep yourself sound and safe
Until morning light shows
I am in dark places
Only firelight knows
Here lies little meaning
Subtle whispered screaming
Soft.
