Lay down so I don't feel so sick,
Get lost and dream Los Angeles,
Wake up when I found the river

Lay low and walk down lazy streets,
With a peace sign cut from a magazine,
Wake up when I found the river,
And I'm listening...

Wherever you are when I'm on the road,
We're driving back past country homes,
I'm calling home for you, for you

This is the last time
So darling close your eyes,
We don't say goodbye
So we'll just say goodnight,
This is the last time
So jump into that fire,
We don't say goodbye
We'll just say goodnight

Closed eyes I cancel out the green,
Thoughts bounce around like trampolines,
Wake up we're next to the river

Sunsets they race down boulevards,
Street lights lit up like dim cigars,
Wake up we're back in september

Wherever you are when I'm on the road,
We're driving back past country homes,
I'm calling home for you, for you

This is the last time
So darling close your eyes,
We don't say goodbye
So we'll just say goodnight,
This is the last time
So jump into that fire,
We don't say goodbye
We'll just say goodnight

No, No...

No, No...

Wherever you are when I'm on the road,
We don't have to feel alone,
I'm calling home for you, for you

Lay down so I don't feel so sick,
Wake up to see you once again

And this is the last time
So darling close your eyes,
We don't say goodbye
So we'll just say goodnight,
This is the last time
So jump into that fire,
So jump into that fire,

We don't say goodbye, we'll just say goodnight.
