The truth is found
six feet underground or laying at the bottom of the sea.

After all who thought it would come to this, come down to this. [x2]

Yet misguided truths are right here within these walls.
And to speak of them is a sin against the ones you swear to the most.
So everyone knows the truth. [x4]

To purge ones self in a such a misleading way is just a shame.
To purge ones self in a such a misleading way, a mile away.

So sit and wait, and lose all we've ever hoped. [x3]
HOPED! HOPED! ...

As pages turn and days go by, you only wither away.
You only wither to the tale of time
