Hey truth seeker, look into my eyes
See if you find the truth behind the riddles and the lies
But we both know if you'll find what you're looking for Long lost is the key that opens that unmarked door

Look into my eyes, and realise
Between the saga and the show
We'll never know

Hey believer, look into my soul
And see the missing pieces where no faith can fill the hole
We both know how to share our common ground, but Rule of the promised land is the most desired prize around

Look into my eyes, and realise
Between the wicked and the wise
We'll never compromise

Hey deceiver, look into my heart
And tell me is it in our nature to be drawn in by your art?
We both know you'll take your secrets to the grave
But right until that time you'll have to tread the path you pave

Look into my eyes, and realise
Between the devil and the deep
What you sew, you'll reap

Between the wicked and the wise
We'll never compromise

Between the saga and the show
We'll never know
