I bought all the lines you sold me, dear
And you know I stuck them well
I wore all the clothes you brought me, dear
And you know I wore them well

I don't wanna scream
But it's the saddest scene I've ever seen before today

I walked through the sets you placed on stage
And you know I strode through tall
I watched as you ripped them all to shreds
And you know I miss them all

I don't wanna scream
But it's the saddest scene I've ever seen before today
Today

Locked up in my soul
Locked up in my heart
In my heart

I don't wanna scream
But it's the saddest scene I've ever seen before
And if you stop and really think what I mean
You would see that I was better than before my scream
My scream, my scream, my scream
