Speak with what eloquence you can muster
Say what you feel after the moment
Think the way that everyone has taught you
Just scream aloud and prove everyone right

Breathe, and sing, and play

To me, we have an inherited demeanor
Will you share?
Well I'll take... and let you give again, and again, and again

And still I stumble
He's driving too fast
A hundred questions
I'm too scared to ask

Breathe, and sing, and play

I can't seem to breathe it out
I can't seem to spit it out

I can't seem to breathe it out
I can't seem to spit it out

I can't seem to breathe it out
I can't seem to spit it out
I can't seem to breathe it out
I can't seem to spit it out

Signal sound, a clouded mind
It stares at me, it grows in time
It's not easy now
It should be easy now

So move me with your eyes and make me melt away
It's not easy now
It should be easy now
