Don't know where to...

Don't know where to come clean...

It's time for me to see what happens without them
watching my back each day
It's agonizing me to feel the hurt again when washing it all away

Why should I be a follower?
I should try not to feel the hurt
Now I dive below

And when it's over I wash it away, you won't see
We start all over without looking back, you and me
You won't see

It's time for me to see what happens without them
watching my back each day

It's agonizing me to feel the hurt again

I don't believe that you'll ever be coming
I can't believe that you'll ever be coming
I'd like to see you whenever you're coming home

Take your time 'til you see the light
We all can wait until morning
Take your time 'til you see the light
A final try before stumbling

We try to find some peace of mind because we fear the monsters here And when he bites it cuts like knives and we come near our deepest fear Cause no one knows...
