You walked into the room my eyes lit up
Each time you know that it's true
Everyone around you is blurred
I can only focus on you

Now it's like I am not even here
Our future once seemed oh so clear
If only we could start it all again
This one time please listen

This has all been just for you
Hopefully you'll notice what we've gone through
Everything that we've done and said
Is my only way to show you I want you back

The autumn storm's blown serenity away
The world around me feels so cold
I think about you every single day
I need your warmth back in my world

The days pass by will this pain ever heal
Hope sees me through emptiness that I feel
If only we could start it all again
This one time please listen

This has all been just for you
Hopefully you'll notice what we've gone through
Everything that we've done and said
Is my only way to show you I want you back

This has all been just for you
Hopefully you'll notice what we've gone through
Everything that we've done and said
Is my only way to show you I want you back

This has all been just for you
Hopefully you'll notice what we've gone through
Everything that we've done and said
Is my only way to show you I want you back
