The day is finally over and you come alive
I'm slowly opening my window let you come inside
In the dark, all my fears they all disappear
It's a hoax my love
I've seen it all before

You hear him whisper like a distant call and then he tells you that he miss you, makes you feel so small
In the dark with the stars it all seems so close
In your head it's real he's getting near and

Softly, you lay your head beside me
Say you feel my heart beat
I'm too numb to feel you
I'm to numb to see you

Tell me are you see-through?
This ghost you're turning into
I shut my eyes, and you're no longer here

And when the sun is slowly rising it all hits me hard
Like a knife in my chest ripping out my hard
Reality is out there tearing lives apart
I'm living here alone with just a memory of you

I'm acting normal saying hi each day
One feet and then the other, hide your ghost away
Then they say the day is over and you come alive
In my head it's real, you're getting near

Softly, you lay your head beside me
Say you feel my heart beat
I'm too numb to feel you
I'm to numb to see you

Tell me are you see-through?
This ghost you're turning into
I shut my eyes, and you're no longer here
