Picture's fading fast Memories don't last Don't you dare to cry for me
Don't know me from your past

I tried to stay in touch but them letters knew too much My voice is always soar from singing all these things I cannot speak to you

I claim loser to this life
every day I wake up alive
And there's something in the way people look at me those days I can't step out of the darkness
'cause you live inside my shades
You always used to say
'life will find a way'

There's wine and candlelights and a full-moon here tonight But the wine don't taste the same without you singing by my side

Spending my whole life trying to survive
I never asked too much
I just want to feel alive

I claim loser to this life
every day I wake up alive
And there's something in the way
people look at me those days
Like they know I've lost my fire Like they know I've lost my ways Can't step out of the darkness
'cause you live inside my shades
and the sadness in your eyes every morning something dies My voice is soar from screaming out regrets from yesterday

you always used to say
"Life will find a way"

I can't stand the way they all look at me those day
Like they know I've lost my fire
Like they know I lost my way
And I'm spending my whole life Just trying to survive What if they all knew what if they knew about you and how you always used to say
life will find a way

Vers hum
Life will find a way
