Sun coming up over this old town
Momma and Daddy searching frantic and loud
Can't seem to get their steps retraced
They've been looking all over the place

White and pale behind those hollowed eyes
You knew I'd be here so why are you surprised

Sun going down over this cool body
It Starts shaking and you get a little rowdy
You and your friends start losing your cool
Beyond the boat you see a white ghost move

You feed the hungry and save the poor
(You must be out of your mind)
You wash your feet when you come through my door
(You must be out of your mind)
Come down off that tree and turn water into wine
I don't believe
You must be out of your mind)

Now come with me, we got some business to do
Don't you worry, they are coming for you too
Doesn't matter how far you go
If you stick to the cause they will get you for sure Where were you when I needed you the most You probably start singing along, with the song they wrote
