The weather is cruel a thunderstorm is coming up, but we are going out though the rain can't stop us young people from living life another virus disease and my fever is rising up to forty degrees can't persuade you girl of leaving you're staying at mine

again one thought crosses my mind again you're answering me why it's alright with you
it feels so right with you
it's alright with you
why it feels so right with you

8 o'clock, the alarm is ringing I'm waking up, you don't hear it I want to make a cup, but you are clinging to my arm and my spirit is pacified, full of energy my classified thoughts are in your memory you sleepy smile in your sexy lingerie make me stay in bed for another while

it's alright with you
it's alright with you

you are, you are what I'm needing right now
you are, you are what I'm needing right now

it's alright with you (what I'm needing right now) it feels so right with you (what I'm needing right now)
it's alright with you (what I'm needing right now)
it feels so right with you (what I'm needing right now)
it's alright with you (what I'm needing right now)

it feels so right with you (what Iâ€™m needing right now) itâ€™s alright with you (what Iâ€™m needing right now) why it feels so right with you (what Iâ€™m needing right now)
