When i call your name
Breaking the spell
Do you feel heaven and hell
When I call your name
The blood rushing fast in my veins

When I sense your touch cough tint he game
When is lost too much burst into flame
When I sense your touch twist form pleasure to pain

When I call your name a flash in the light
For you feel the same I am blinded by light
When I am into the fire a dawning desire I call your name
When I call your name baby
When I call your name

When I call your name make a pledge
Do you feel the same dance on the edge
When I call your name nothing else matter to me

When I call your name

When I call your name a flash in the light
For you feel the same I am blinded by light
When I am into the fire a dawning desire I call your
When I call your name baby
When I call your name

When I call your name I feel desire
Desire
When I call your name I feel desire

When i call your name
Breaking the spell
Do you feel heaven and hell
When I call your name
The blood rushing fast in my veins

When I call your name a flash in the light
For you feel the same I am blinded by light

When I am into the fire a dawning desire I call your
When I call your name baby
When I call your name
