Mother's Son

Now, here he comes, true mother's son
Shines like the sun
He should be around 23
Just like you and me
Heâ€™s got a brand new t-shirt to show
Looking all pretty in a back row
I see youâ€™re mamma's been good to you
I said your mamma

Well itâ€™s a mighty big shame
That you got so lame
But someone like you just canâ€™t take the blame
Guess youâ€™re alright while youâ€™re mamma's
there
When mamma said it, mamma said it so

Well, I told you once and wonâ€™t tell you again
You got to get a grip, take youâ€™re own stands
Friends are just fed up and you fail to see Youâ€™re sinking in a deep, deep blue sea
Mamma will be gone, youâ€™ll be home alone
So what you gonna do, who you gonna call
But still remain true motherâ€™s son
Shine like a sun

Well itâ€™s a mighty big shame
That you got so lame
But someone like you just canâ€™t take the blame
Guess youâ€™re alright while youâ€™re mamma's
there
When mamma said it, mamma said it so
Well done mamma
