I guess I could say without you I'm nothing
But that wouldn't be true cause I've gotta be something Since I once lived without you Before your hand ever found mine I could hold myself and walk just fine yea I once lived without you

Don't think I wont cry just because I feel this way
It hurt to let you go but it gets easier everyday Yea I said you give me all I need but you know its the funniest thing without you
I can still breathe

You see my world doesn't stop just because your not in it our love wasn't a lose and I'm sure glad it isn't but don't think I can't make it without you I can see the horizon in the distance its clear there's glorious day that's drawing near and I can make it there without you
