I can't forget the day that
We got drunk in the green, green grass it was in May We ran across the field and
And cut the flowers as they grew

But now this all has faded
These days are long, long gone
We never took a look behind the sun

We never know what's going on under the surface
We never know what went wrong after all the shit
We only got to see what we never want to be Here we go again, here we go again the world is coming down on me

Next thing I know is one day
You called my name but all the leaves they blew away
It smelled like rain it tasted like
All of our memories that had turned to grey

We always keep on searching
We don't want to be found
And no one's gonna turn the things around

We never know what's going on under the surface
We never know what went wrong after all the shit
We only got to see what we never want to be
Here we go again, here we go again the world is coming down on me

Guitar Solo

We never know what's going on under the surface
We never know what went wrong after all the shit
We only got to see what we never want to be
Here we go again, here we go again the world is coming down on me
We never know what's going on under the surface
We never know what went wrong after all the shit
We only got to see what we never want to be
Here we go again, here we go again the world is coming down on me
