"The Mess In Your Room"

I'll wake in the corner alone, in a room that's not in my home, your face, in the morning it's strong(?) in a room that's not in my home.
I know what you want, know what you want. I think you forgot, I know what you want.
I was waiting on the moon, looking for someone like you, waking up realized the truth, he's a window with no view, I'm just a lesson inside of your room, you are the ground beneath my shoes.
I know what you want, know what you want. Don't want to get caught, I know what you want.
I'll wake, in the morning alone, in a room that's not in my home.
I know what you want, know what you want. I think you forgot, I know what you want.
