Why worry, it's alright I'm with you through the night I've listened to your dreams I feel the presence that you've seen Step out of the darkness And into the light The words of the promise That was made were right No tears and no troubles No heartache, no pain I know that we're going to be one again Still waters run so deep The world listens when you speak One nation of the free All believing that there'll be No troubles and no hunger No heartache, no pain I know that we're living to be one again Walk out of the darkness and into the sun And wake to the morning when we live as one Step out of the darkness and into the light The fire that we've kindled is still burning bright The dawn of tomorrow comes back to today We'll capture that moment, and we'll fly away
