I made a lot of choices most have not been wise

But I have some really good friends I've been fortunate to find

They get me through the lonely days when I want to stay inside myself

They get me out of my shell out into the world

I am coming back I'm coming back again

Oh I had lost everything and then I got it back again

I dug myself so deep, deep into a hole

That getting out was so far beyond my control

In the past I've always had trouble on my mind

I'm gonna take that feeling and leave it far behind

As I go down this path traveling through my fate

Lately I have begun to awake

It started out in Jackson and we moved across the land

And all the dehydration turned soil into sand

And then one day
they hauled me away

And I was out there, out on my own

and the thieves they came and went

They took everything in site
And then we got it back again

Oh I had to fight

And now then I woke up from the middle of the strangest dream

And everyone was there that I ever knew and they all began to sing

Oh hold your head high just and just stay high as you can

Things will work out soon
things will come round again

You see I've got this fascination with all the wrong ways to go

Oh I get lost even in the places that I know

Oh hold your head high and stay just as high as you can

things will come round again ooh

and just as high as you can
