I remember better days
When I could feel the sun
Shining on my face
Something was drawing near
You could feel it in the air
And I was not afraid....

The clock stopped ticking
I was still breathing
Pick these pieces of the ground
Look for tomorrow
And learn to let go
I always knew
I would pull through

Staring in the face of death
Almost took away my breath
I began to see the light
And right before I closed my eyes
A voice inside my head
Told me never to forget
That....

I always knew
I would pull through
This is what I've always wanted...

This is what I've always wanted!!!
