Bibbidi-Bobbidi-Boo - INTRO

Now, since we're on the subject of theme songs, is anyone interesting in a theme song for teenagers? It seems to me that teenagers don't listen very well because you can tell them things over and over and over and they just don't get it. For instance, I have a teenage daughter and I have told her more times than I can count, "Please clear off the bathroom counter. Before you go to school, put away the hairspray, the deodorant, the curling irons. Just put it all in the drawer." And every time, she will say: "Ok, Mom. I totally will. That is no problem at all." And then she goes to school and I walk by the bathroom and everything is still sitting there on the counter. So I have decided that we speak different languages. When I am speaking, this is what she hears:
Bibbidi-Bobbidi-Boo
Salagadoola mechicka boola bibbidi-bobbidi-boo
I am a teenager, so all I hear is
bibbidi-bobbidi-boo
