I met you in the upper room
Of a house where I slept with the angels
From hell and from heaven
Some from haunting and some for gaurding
Each to his own purpose
Over my trembling skin

And I kept my secrets
Far from your condition
And in the explosions
They both were just powders
And faded jean jackets
To look just like our daddies

Did you say your lovers were liars?
All my lovers were liars, too
Did you say you were afraid of dying?
I ain't lived a single day without you
Do you want to come over?
I was just about to miss you
Did you say you were lonely?
I was just about to call you

You rang on a Wednesday night
I was buried in the church yard
And the engines of desire
In the come down daylight
I believe my troubles
And your troubles shook hands

Did you say your lovers were liars?
All my lovers were liars, too
Did you say you were afraid of dying?
I ain't lived a single day without you
Do you want to come over?
I was just about to call you
Did you say you were lonely?
I was just about to miss you

Did you say your lovers were liars?
All my lovers were liars, too

Did you say you were afraid of dying?
Baby, I ain't lived a single day without you
Did you want to come over?
I was just about to miss you
Did you say you was lonely?
I was right about to call you

Do you believe there's a heaven?
And do you think we're invited?
You done some bad things
And I was a killer

Did you want to come over?
I was just about to miss you
Did you say you were lonely?
I was just about to call you
