Endless rain pours on these buildings
Under the stars
Water drops wash away
The city's scars
I've been waiting all my life
To finally speak
I am now the eyes of a million
Down every street

This city Sleeps
This city weeps tonight
This city sleeps
This city weeps tonight

As the horizon captures the windows
And reflects our souls
like two lovers bound to each other
Out of control
This fiery sunrise sears this world
Another start, a new chance for us
An awakening

This city Sleeps
This city weeps tonight
This city sleeps
This city weeps tonight

Between these streets
Lie forbidden dreams
Under these thorns
There's a world unseen
These vines that grow
Constricting all we know
Has strangled all our hope

This city Sleeps
This city weeps tonight
This city sleeps
This city weeps tonight
