Sound brings comfort to your fears, i know iâ€™m not alone cars pass quickly with the whir of their gears, i feel strength thrive in my bones freedom is what lifts you in flight, as you soar past existing heights over thick clouds there is always the sun underneath their shadow lies buried guns sight brings comfort to my mind yet iâ€™m jealous of the blind for they hold more wisdom than I, because they actually know what there is to find

CHORUS

Even when stars die you still see their light after the brave fall, heroes arise look towards the sky and your tears will subside trust me, weâ€™ll be alright a scene distracts me from reality for a time i can reach to infinity if i had it my way we would never part ways a broken heart will mend itself over time but a scar that will only fade never heal is left for the world to find

The moment has gone but a new one comes next sometimes the memories sad if you think it was best no need to miss it youâ€™ll get lost and confused trust me iâ€™ve been through this all too freedom is what lifts you in flight,

as you sour past existing heights
underneath their shadow lies buried guns
