Lately I've been thinking how I feel, and playing back just what was said
All my senses have been running wild,
While the thoughts of you are glittering

One moment that's sublime can corrupt my whole life,
just being with you

Everything runs through my head, I can't go back to what she said
The glass bends all these different ways and my heart

Everything collapses with one touch, and it's almost like you wanted it to Chew my lip it's all in what you do, bite my tongue I'm not asking you too

One moment that's sublime can corrupt my whole life,
just being with you

Everything runs through my head, I can't go back to
what she said
The glass bends all these different ways and my hearts

Beating in time with yours the way I feel is beautiful Right now I know something has changed with you lying next to me

With you lying next to me.

Everything runs through my head, I can't go back to
what she said
The glass bends all these different ways and my hearts Choosing ways for me to go, I can't decide 'cause I don't know
Just what I will have sacrificed this time round
This time round
This time round
This time round
This time round
