

I Divide "Burning Out"

Visit "Burning Out" on MotoLyrics.com

Take this all away. Spread my wings and fly. Watch my world decay, now I see so clearly. The fear you have inside is relief inside my mind. I've broken from these prison gates, redemption's on my side. We both know it's set in stone and there's no way out, there's nowhere left to go. You better rest assured I'm gonna make you see a different side and there's one thing you should know

No, I won't be fooled again. I will not be your friend. I guess that everything you said was a lie. You can take my world but you will never own my soul, not until the sun burns out the sky.

People always say the truth will be your fight. The secrets in my head will not help me sleep tonight. I'm burning out the sky so you can see my face. I've tried I've cried I've broken down but never left a trace. We both know it's set in stone and there's no way out, there's nowhere left for you and your ego to grow inside my mind and haunt me. You think that you have it all, but you'll never know you have taken you've deceived me I have walked out of the door there's no time for second chances, I have finally set the score.

I won't let you take this away. It's too late, there's no where to go. My mind is out of control. You are the reason that I cannot live with you.

Visit I Divide page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.