

I Divide "Never Be Stopped"

Visit "Never Be Stopped" on MotoLyrics.com

What's this I'm holding out for someone to show me how to feel.

I'm lost with this but I'm sure a better world outside exists. So I'm calling just to be the same again and I know it might just seem the same again. The struggle gets the best of me.

You know, you know the battles won when you look back and see your old face laughing now at where it used to be. I see, I see the paths now gone so lift your mask and see yourself within.

I will never be hurt again, I'll never be stopped. You are the reason that I have not forgot. I will never be the one to tell you it's not hell. Can someone please tell me I'm something I'm not.

Why stay alone without me repairing jigsaws in your mind. A piece can't fit if not placed so push it right where you want. So I'm calling out to skip another chance, 'cause I'm tired and I'm sick of romance. There must be more to life than this.

If you believe, you will see, everything you wanted. Is this supposed to be real? My hands, my face, my thoughts. 'Cause if you look for surreal you might just stop.

Visit I Divide page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.