

I Divide "The Arrival"

Visit "The Arrival" on MotoLyrics.com

Many times I've tried to find the answer, to find a place where I can save you.
Like barricaded doors, your bitter thoughts are caged just like before this all was taken.

We are alive, we will survive this broken war of conscience.
Each day we grow, each day we know and keep on pushing forward.

Take these words from me. I see your anger. Your tears are drowning out worn skin. Your eyes now don't see straight 'cause right in front of you are people who you'd much rather forget.

And if you leave it this way nothing will change forever. It goes on and on.
So go on leave it this way, so nothing will change forever

Visit I Divide page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.