

Imogen Clark "Porcelain"

Visit "Porcelain" on MotoLyrics.com

Da Da Da Da Da Da Da

Come inside, sit by the fire
The winter's coming on.
You're probably feeling in denial
And you're probably wrong.
A train from Sydney to the suburbs,
Though you're closer I feel alone.
I feel alone.

I'll take your coat but
You're still drenched to the bone.
I'll lead you home but
You're still standing alone.
At night I shiver
While I'm fast asleep
'Cause you're porcelain, porcelain
Sleeping next to me.

Da Da Da Da Da Da Da

Down by the warf, I watch the stars
Exploding every night.
It's one thing to risk your hand with fire
And another when it's ice.
A concrete city never yields against the warmth of summer nights
And you know I'm right.

I'll take your coat but
You're still drenched to the bone.
I'll lead you home but
You're still standing alone.
At night I shiver
While I'm fast asleep
'Cause you're porcelain, porcelain
Sleeping next to me.

On an eerie winter's evening
And you are right at home amongst the icy coats
Of strangers as they wonder where to go
'Cause this isn't home.

I'll take your coat but
You're still drenched to the bone.
I'll lead you home...

I'll take your coat but
You're still drenched to the bone.
I'll lead you home but
You're still standing alone.
At night I shiver
While I'm fast asleep
'Cause you're porcelain, porcelain
Sleeping next to me.

I'll take your coat but
You're still drenched to the bone.
I'll lead you home but
You're still standing alone.
At night I shiver
While I'm fast asleep
'Cause you're porcelain, porcelain
Sleeping next to me.

Da Da Da Da Da Da Da

Visit Imogen Clark page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.