He waits
Finds familiarity which he hates
He waits for sleep to over come the pain
But only in his dreams

Can't wait to be the one
Who tells you that you're alive
Can't wait to see
That look on you're face
When you finally realze
You're alone

In this room all the walls are falling down arond me
Or falling on me
And I can't wait to see where I'll be
All I know it won't be here

And I've found a way
To be alive and I won't feel this way again
This sheet rock prison's crumbling around me
And I'm OK

I've waited long to see this day and I've cried
Liberate
From this pain

Finally-finally things are going my way
And you know what that means
You're dead to me
