This world it needs a cleansing, removing all it's filth.
Wearing your masks of envy but I see you still.

For forty days, walk the earth, removing all this curse.
These forty nights, and you're drowning as I fill your lungs.

Hoping hoping hoping, to drown the world.
Hoping hoping hoping, to drown the world.
To drown the world.
And now your world is ending and I'm doing just...

And now your world, world is ending, and I'm doing just fine.

Look into my eyes and I can see right through you
Look into my eyes and I can see right through you

This world it needs a cleansing, removing all it's filth.
Wearing your masks of envy but I see you still.

But I see you still.
But I see you, see you, see you still.

This world it needs a cleansing, removing all it's filth.
Wearing your masks of envy but I see you still.

Hoping hoping hoping, to drown the world.
Hoping hoping hoping

And now we drown the world.
You're growing in the flood.
