

Of Montreal

"Du Og Meg"

Visit "Du Og Meg" on MotoLyrics.com

She fell in love with a boy who spoke a second language And who lived across the ocean in the evil empire

He awoke her sleeping heart and swept away the darkness An acute fear of flying couldn't keep her away

Ooh, ooh, ooh

She landed on her feet and joined his fledgling rock group as they toured the evil empire selling t-shirts at the shows

She taught him what was real she taught him he was okay That his thoughts were not just rubbish that he had something good to give

Still his heart was so ambivalent and hopesick of her he wasn't ever sure But she gave in so sweetly that the spirit said "Boy you better go run to her" [run to her]

So when she split he hopped on a plane with his parents and his brother He told her that he loved her they were married in the summer

Ooh, ooh, ooh

Visit Of Montreal page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.