When I met you I was just a kid hadn't built up my defenses so I gave my heart completely vaseline over the lenses memories don't go away
I remember every day
I never ever stop wondering Wondering if you still think of us I don't need a photograph cause you've never left my mind No you've never left my mind I remember feeling like a ship whose captain was too drunk to steer and you watched as I was sinking waving sadly from the pier It's such a burden to carry 'round the vestiges of dead dreams and I don't want to make a wake out of my life I just had to let you go
