I used to think it black while at my country seat
Now I'm peaking in so many ways the gloom is in retreat
Yes the dark epoch is over I've found my efebium
Then passed Ernst's mausoleum defended by a rook Who shot a look so virulent it pierced me like a hook
The palaver of Solipsists exploding in my skull Yeah and we both despise all of the academic swine
Who made the author of "Discus Ulysses" benign So what if Wednesday finds us wearing rabies parachutes Foaming like the melodies of sea foam fairy flutes
The atmosphere is viscous we're sticking to the brine
When the lanterns fill with finches so begins the brawl Cause their brains are like porcupines and mine's a paper ball
I know they don't understand they don't get us at all Their moss mangles polyanthus
and mine's a paper ball
