Early in the morning, I'll come calling, I'll come calling
after you Darling if you answer, oh we'll wander, down the garden where it's cool Later we'd discover, all in covers, children silent as the stars
Early in the morning, in the morning, everything at once is ours

Early in the morning, I'll come calling, I'll come calling
after you Though you seldom answer, still I wonder, what will pass here when you do Delicate in grasses, bright and ashen, breathing sweet a ruby nest
Early in the morning, in the morning, withered, singing we will rest

Early in the morning, In the morning, I will call for you Even if the words aren't clear,
And even if my voice seems cruel Early in the morning, in the morning, red and almost true

Dressing in my finest suit
My cleanest shoes
Making sure the crease is true Pressed and fresh and blue.
