She sits in the garden, Tending to her broken heart.
The day winds by in hurricane, Left alone in the dark He rests under the surface. He sits alone, Reliving all his golden years, Before theyâ€™d turned to stone He doesnâ€™t know where sheâ€™s going to, She doesnâ€™t know where heâ€™s gone,
All they know is theyâ€™ve lost it all, And itâ€™s
setting with the sun Itâ€™s gets so hard to sit in the distance, Watching the world fall apart
If you place it all on fairy tales, Youâ€™ll only break your heart
The castle seems so quiet, devoid of all the guards.
Somehow they all left you here, a drowning work of art.
I
It all seems so desolate, you almost die alone.....When you hear the ghost of has been crashing through your bones
He doesnâ€™t know where sheâ€™s going to, She
doesnâ€™t know where heâ€™s gone,
All they know is theyâ€™ve lost it all, And itâ€™s
setting with the sun
Itâ€™s gets so hard to sit in the distance, Watching the
world fall apart
If you force it all on fairy tales, Youâ€™ll only break a heart
He doesnâ€™t know where sheâ€™s going.
It got too dark to see.
All she knows is heâ€™s gone for good, And heâ€™s just a memory.
